1.	I have many times heard that cow dung is used in atomic reactors to prevent gamma radiation leak. My father has said this to me and a lot of other people around me told me the same. There is also a debate on if cow dung is used in atomic reactors or not. I see people around me arguing about it many times. So out of my curiosity to know the truth, I want to know that Is cow dung been used in atomic reactors or not. Also, at any degree cow dung is useful in preventing gamma radiation effect. The soul purpose of knowing the fact behind is to know the truth, nothing else.	BRIT doesn't operate Atomic Reactors. Hence, the application is transferred to BARC under Section 6(3) of the RTI Act, 2005.
